

Annual Report 2002

East-East

The East-East Program supports people and ideas to transcend national borders particularly to collaborate in creating and strengthening conditions of an open society. Communication is the essence of the East-East Program. The program supports openness, dialogue and neutral space for diverse views. Initiatives supported by the program seek to discover and inspire new visions, energy and creativity to strengthen conditions of an open society.

In the year 2003 Program provided individuals and organizations with an opportunity to take part in international activities, trainings and seminars aimed to promote global understanding of ongoing social developments. Additionally, the program assisted in the organization of a number of seminars, conferences and workshops in Georgia.

Karl Poppre Debate Program

The goal of the debate program is to encourage the development of those essential skills in the young generation that are important for true members of an open society. A socially aware, free and flexible thinker, an individual who can comprehend and accept different ideas, and clearly and reasonably express his/her opinion; a person who participates in the life of society and evaluates current events and important issues from different angles - this kind of citizen is the final goal of the debate program. In order to achieve the above stated goal the Program addresses the technique of formal debates, which creates the perfect opportunity to complexly develop all these abilities in young people. Formal debate is one of the most effective ways to involve youth in discussion of issues of society's current interest and to help them obtain the skills of civilized discussion, critical thinking, rational argumentation and rhetorical speech.

International Student Advising Center

The Open Society – Georgia Foundation, like its sister organizations in the Soros Foundation network, follows the goal of establishing an open society in countries where a closed society previously existed. This goal is achieved through awarding financial and technical support to those organizations and institutions that also promote the development of an open, democratic society in Georgia.

The Open Society – Georgia Foundation (OSGF) has identified the area of student advising as important for continued development of an open society in Georgia.

To this end, in 1995, OSGF created an International Student Advising Center (ISAC) that could provide Georgian students, university teachers, researchers, and professionals with needed information and support in order to make the most of their education experiences abroad and strengthen their skills and abilities to become future leaders.

The main goal of the International Student Advising Center is to provide interested individuals and groups with information and services which are not readily available in Georgia, and facilitate mobility for them by providing comprehensive and centralized resources.

- ISAC assists students wishing to attend educational institutions in the US and other western countries, as well as schools in Eastern Europe and NIS countries. ISAC also directs international study programs, and provides foreign students with needed information and support ;
- ISAC provides extensive information and assistance to applicants of Soros-sponsored scholarships, different short and long-term programs and various summer schools for students, university teachers and researchers.
- ISAC library/reference area offers free of charge a diverse selection of university handbooks and catalogues as well as information on a broad range of grants, scholarships, fellowships and stipends; plus different test preparation kits for self- study including TOEFL, GMAT, GRE, SAT, TOEIC, Cambridge Certificate exams and other similar materials.
- ISAC offers group and individual advising sessions for applicants, pre-departure orientations, visa regulation lectures, workshops and training seminars on different topics, and movie nights with discussions.
- ISAC also offers Internet access during INTERNET classes with three workstations that are provided free of charge.
- ISAC cooperates with a number of Georgian and foreign organizations and institutions in a Volunteer Advising Scheme (VAS), making use of the educational information and expertise that exists in Georgia.
- ISAC collaborates closely with the US Embassy Public Affairs Section, organizing and promoting common educational activities.
- ISAC has four branch offices in Kutaisi, Batumi, Akhaltsikhe, and Telavi, which are responsible for disseminating information to local universities and secondary schools, as well as institutions in neighboring regions.
- ISAC offices are not used only as sites for distribution of information about OSGF programs, outreach seminars, and workshops, but as sites to disseminate information about US Embassy programs, ACCELS, IREX, Peace Corps and CEP.

In 2003 International Student Advising Center administered 14 different short and long term programs. One of the Network Scholarship Programs - Undegraduate Exchange Program was closed and substituted with one-year Secondary School Exchange and short term Summer School Programs for secondary school students.

The programs administered at ISAC in 2003 were:

- four-year Bachelor degree program at the American University in Bulgaria, Blagoevgrad, Bulgaria..

Were received 5 applications, accepted 2 students;

- one-year Secondary School Exchange and short term Summer School Programs for High School students at the United States of America.

Were received 65 applications, for one-year program were accepted 5 students and for Summer Schools - 7.
